Customer Advisory

Perfumery products

12 March 2020

Dear valued Customer,

There are various products in our daily use in our living environment should be regarded as "dangerous goods" during transportation such as perfume (aerosol), pesticide, paint, resin, batteries, BBQ charcoal and fireworks, etc. These goods can easily cause fires, explosions or damage to the environment or life if there is an accident or leaking during transportation.

Perfume is one of the Commonly transported class 3 dangerous goods include acetone, adhesives, paints, gasoline, ethanol, methanol and some pesticides with flammable solvents.

Dangerous goods (DG) pose a particularly high risk when transported in large quantities. They are more explosive, flammable, toxic, radioactive, or corrosive and harmful character to the environment. Therefore, we have to pay more attention to the safety of dangerous goods during cargo operation / stowage. In other words, shippers have to fill out DG declarations and other related documents for shipside and shore side to proceed with emergency measures under the IMDG Code.

Every cargo not correctly declared can endanger the safety of our crews, our assets, the environment and other customers' cargo.

As we continue to detect quite a number of misdeclarations, we have already started to charge an administration fee of 5,000 USD per booking on 20 August 2019 to all customers who misdeclare their dangerous cargo. Any other additional cost that will result from taking corrective action is also being charged on top of this fee.

We continue to work towards reducing risks for all parties involved in the handling and transportation of cargo, as well as an overall industry improvement of safety and reliability.

Please help us to be safe!

We thank you in advance for your continued support, and if you have any questions please reach out to your local sales or customer service representative. You will find contact details of our local offices on maersk.com.
