

Here's an update for our Asia to Europe services

Dear Mathieu,

As a consequence of the forecasted reductions in demand around the Golden Week holiday period, we will be making adjustments to our network.

With your cargo planning in mind, we are aiming at providing you with predictability and optimal alternatives to minimize possible disruptions to your supply chain. Therefore, we have created an overview of the weeks with the services that will not have sailings, including the first port of call and the alternative service option.

Please visit our CustomerNEWS to evaluate the weeks and alternatives for your cargo planning. The news is available in this link.

To ensure minimal disruptions, our teams are already rebooking your cargo to the remaining network in advance, and you will be notified of the changes. As we progress during this season, we will continue to keep you updated. You may continue to place bookings normally as we have developed contingency plans on alternative services.

If you should have any additional questions concerning the above updates, please reach out to our teams at your preferred location. They will assist you based on your situation.

Best regards,

Maria-Fernanda
